

My best wishes for 2014

In 2013 at the 10th Word Festival

Transparency and Lie

were selected as the most representative words of this year vocabulary. In our collective unconsciousness those two words – antonyms - reflect a yearning for Truth and Authenticity.

And this is exactly the meaning of 2014:

2 and 14 separated by a 0

2: having a different look on life

14 (1 et 4) : respecting oneself (1) in one's own truth (4)
and $1 + 4 = 5$: experimenting freely, without reservations (To be experience and observer simultaneously)

The 0 is the change of plan, passing through the void that our mind has no access to.

Finally, the sum of this year's four numbers is 7: It means taking responsibility for one's own life, letting its meaning reveal itself.

Once again, this year is a complete shift of paradigm.

In 2014, it is proposed that we live respecting our own truth in order to discover the meaning which is revealed in the unique being that we are when we take responsibility.

This is the path of consciousness.

We need to develop this new vision. These are the wishes that I make for each of us, at the dawn of this new year ...

With all my heart. Jean-Philippe Brébion

« The absolute certainty that everything has a meaning »

www.bioanalogie.com

